Background

Joy Stephens is founder and president of o 2 joy, a consulting firm specializing in fund development and marketing for the social sector. After spending 20 years in the private sector in the sales, training and management arenas, she moved to the nonprofit sector in 2006. Joy successfully launched two not-for-profit entities: Sickle Cell Fund for Families in Need, and Canadian Friends of South Africa (CFOSA). She remains the Board chair and interim Executive Director for both organizations. Joy has worked with numerous nonprofit clients in their efforts to raise funds. As an experienced adult trainer, she creates and facilitates workshops on nonprofit and business topics that assist CEO's, founders and fund development staff in their efforts to sustain and grow their organizations.
