Background

Trip joined The Museum of Flight in May of 2011. He oversees all Museum fundraising activities and development staff. Prior to joining The Museum of Flight, Trip spent seven years as the Senior Director of Regional Development for Conservation International. He has also held development positions at Seattle University and Lakeside School, where he was also the head rowing coach for six years. Prior to his time in the nonprofit sector, Trip worked in advertising sales for Parade and Reader's Digest magazines in New York City.

Favorite Things

Trip and Ann, his wife, spend most of their free time raising two young children, traveling, staying fit and working on their home.
